

REPUBLICANS PONDER GATES' CAPITAL TRIP

STATE POLITICIANS WON-DER WHAT WASHING-TON VISIT INFERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 7.—(INS)—Governor Ralph F. Gates was in Washington today and many leading Republican politicians wondered what he was doing.

What's he up to—was the question of the GOP politics. Although the Governor, as Indiana member of the Republican national committee is scheduled to be in Washington on Jan. 19 and 20 at that organization first meeting since last spring, he nevertheless went to the nation's capital yesterday.

The Governor tonight will entertain Hoosier members of Congress at a dinner where much may happen to affect the future of the state.

The Governor and Senator William E. Jenner, who will be a dinner guest, now are engaged in a cold war for supremacy in the state G. O. P. organization.

Many politicians have said to Jenner that it would be stupid to risk his position by entering a struggle for an honor less than he now holds, but he had paid no heed to them.

Or course the possibility that former Governor Henry F. Schricker may become a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination plays a part in the situation. Schricker smiles sweetly, addresses the usual number of women's clubs and says nothing.

Even in the face of the fact that the second Schricker district wishes formally to propose him for Governor, "Uncle Henry" remains quiet.

Governor Gates, when asked why he was going to Washington, smilingly said that he would discuss "politics in the broad phases" with members of the Indiana congressional delegation.

The announcement of the gubernatorial candidacy of Lieutenant Governor Richard T. James was of great concern to Indiana senators and congressmen.

On the record, the governor today attended a meeting of a subcommittee of the National Governors' Conference, at which taxation problems were discussed.

On Thursday, he will meet with representatives of the Council of State Government.

He said he will come back to Indianapolis on Friday.

Every politician in Indiana knows that the governor and Sen. Jenner are embattled in a fight to control the GOP state organization. The governor now has little patronage power because he is in the last year of his administration.

So all of the Indiana Republican politicians are in the anxious seat, striving to know the gubernatorial candidate who will be nominated.

James, privately is the choice of Gov. Gates, but many of the GOP organization members are not too strong for the lieutenant governor. Hobart Creighton, of Warsaw, speaker of the House of Representatives, soon is expected to toss his hat in the GOP governorship race.

MAYOR AL FEENEY IS AGAINST THE HOODLUMS

Law abiding citizens of Greencastle are strong for Mayor Al Feeney of Indianapolis who is making a splendid start in making the city safe for people through Indiana. The Hoosiers are being taken over by the police and it may soon be a safe place for women to walk on the streets.

Greencastle motorists have better be careful about their Indianapolis parking, otherwise they will owe the city two bucks, as about 300 are getting stickers each day. These fines may help pay off some of the capital city national debt.

Commissioners Award Contracts

Bids for tires and tubes, crushed stone, light and heavy hardware and gravel were to be awarded Wednesday by the Putnam county commissioners during the final session of their three-day meeting at the court house.

Several bids were let by the county officials Tuesday. The High Point Oil Company was awarded contracts for gasoline, oil, grease and anti-freeze. The High Point was the only bidder on gasoline of the three firms submitting bids. Their bid was 19.8 cents per gallon as of today.

Bids for repair parts for county machinery and equipment were awarded King, Morrison, Foster, MacAllister Machinery Company; Scott's Franklin Street Garage; American Steel Supply Corporation, Inc.; Indiana Equipment Company; J. D. Adams Company and Eagle Machine Company.

The C. H. Barnaby Lumber Company was awarded the contract for bridge timbers and native lumber.

The Logansport Metal Culvert Company was awarded the bid for metal culverts.

Dr. Wildman Is Chapel Speaker

Pointing out that we as individuals were never intended to be defeated people, President Clyde E. Wildman told DePauw University students in chapel Wednesday that it is the resiliency of the human spirit which caused Christianity to grow, which gives people the ability to come back from apparent defeat. "There is a resiliency of the human spirit, an ability to come back," he said. "Let us not underestimate it when we think of ourselves and the future. It existed before Christ and it exists now, but it has its supreme incarnation in Him."

President Wildman cited the early days of the Church, the fall of Rome, and the Protestant Reformation as examples of the resiliency of spirit. "Now we are caught in the undertow of a feeling of defeat and futility," he said. "We are only a drop in the bucket. But if millions of drops are brought together by some sort of cohesive drawing power they will fill the bucket to overflowing and put out the fire which threatened to consume our civilization."

SOS Sent By Russian Ship

HONOLULU, Jan. 7.—(UP)—An unidentified Russian ship carrying 800 passengers flashed a distress signal today that it was sinking off the coast of Japan and that its engines were out of commission.

The SOS was picked up by the RCA listening-post here. The brief message, signed "Divina, Master," reported that the ship had five feet of water in her hold.

The message was addressed to the harbor master at Hakodate, Japan. It requested that a rescue vessel set out as soon as possible.

The master gave his position as latitude 41 degrees 50 minutes north, longitude 144 degrees, eight minutes east. That would place the ship in the neighborhood of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

FARM SALE PRICES GOOD OVER COUNTY

ESPECIALLY HIGH PRICES BEING PAID FOR MACHINERY

Putnam county farmers are still critically short of farm implements and as a result good ones being offered at public farm sales are bringing unusually high prices.

On Tuesday at the Bales sale, north of the city, a new moving machine that had not been used, sold for $125 more than its cost; a tractor used some time, sold for more than $2000. Livestock is also selling high. At this sale, a short yearling steer brought $175; old corn sold for $2.56 per bushel and new corn went for $2.30 per bushel. Oats brought the high price of $1.35 per bushel. These prices probably are about as high as the oldest Putnam county farmer ever saw in this community.

Livestock, apparently will be short during 1948, because hundreds of head in this county have gone to market and almost daily loads of brood sows and breeding cattle are being sold on the market, simply because of the high price. Sooner or later, the sale of this kind of breeding stock will be reflected in a serious shortage of livestock on the farms which produce meat for the nation.

Hints A-Bombs Smaller Now

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(UP)—A remark by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz set off speculation today that atomic bombs are getting smaller as they become more powerful.

Nimitz' remark, made Dec. 15 when he retired as chief of naval operations and released by the navy yesterday, was:

"The navy of the future will be capable of delivering atomic bombs from carrier-based planes."

That could mean that the bomb is shrinking in size as scientists perfect it, that carrier planes are becoming bigger and more powerful, or both.

The navy has, as a matter of fact, developed a jet plane which can take off from carriers. Such a plane probably would have the power to lift an atomic bomb provided it had the bomb bay space to carry it.

The latest official word, two years old, is that the smallest plane capable of delivering atomic bombs is the B-29, the craft which carried it at Hiroshima, Nagasaki and Bikini.

But unofficial scientific opinion here is that it is reasonable to assume that the bomb's trigger mechanism has been perfected since Hiroshima to make the weapon more compact.

The atomic energy commission had a couple of words to say about Nimitz' statement. They were:

"No comment."

Strikes Decreased During Past Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(UP)—The Labor Department said today there were about 3,600 strikers last year—1,400 fewer than the all-time record set in the first full postwar year of 1946.

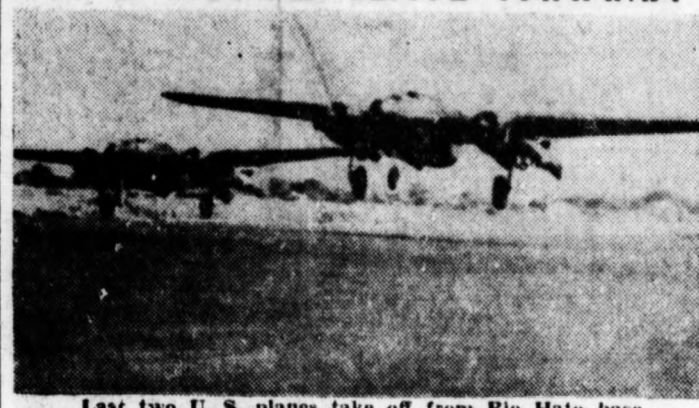

In a summary of last year's labor-management disputes, the Department estimated that 35,000,000 man-days were DST through strikes during 1947. It said this was less than one-third the total work loss a year earlier.

Almost half of the 1947 work loss was attributed to strikes in the telephone, soft coal and shipbuilding industries.

WEST GERMANY GETS CENTRAL GOVERNMENT

FRANKFURT, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay announced today that military government organizations in the American and British zones will be merged into a single unit, as part of a reorganization establishing a central government for Western Germany.

Clay arrived in Frankfurt by train to attend a two-day conference with British and German officials during which he is expected to announce formation of a central government as the answer to the breakdown of the London Foreign Ministers conference.

Reorganization of the British and American military governments will be worked out in a special meeting tomorrow with Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, commander of the British zone, Clay said.

He said the new organization will follow the pattern of supreme headquarters (SHAEP) established during the war by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

However, Clay said there would be no single commander. He and Robertson will retain their co-equal positions, but the system of co-directors for each department and division will be abolished in favor of a single head for each unit.

Officials were unanimous in predicting that most of the important jobs will go to American officials because the United States now is bearing the major share of expenses in the two zones.

All minister-presidents of the two zones were in Frankfurt to hear Clay tell them about Allied plans for the future of Germany.

3 AMERICANS DIE IN PARIS PLANE CRASH

POLISH GIRL ONLY SURVIV-OR IN FRENCH AIR TRAGEDY

PARIS, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Three Americans, one a woman diplomatic courier, were among 15 persons killed last night when a French airliner from Brussels crashed and burned while coming in for a landing at fog-shrouded Le Bourget airport outside Paris.

A Polish girl passenger was the only survivor among the 16 persons in the plane, which carried 11 passengers and a crew of five.

The dead Americans were identified from passports and identity cards as:

Mrs. Jane Wallis Burrell, 36, a diplomatic courier for the American embassy in Paris. She is survived by James Harold Wallis, 49 Old Army Road, Scarsdale, N. Y. Mrs. Burrell was born in Dubuque, Ia.

Louis Sibre, 425 E. 57th St., New York City, director of the Animex Trading Corp., of 120 Liberty St., New York.

John Sherrod Power, 30, a civilian employee of the U. S. Army, survived by his wife, Mrs. Power, 1514 41st St., Washington, D. C. Power was born in Waco, Tex.

The other dead included five French crewmen, two English passengers, a Frenchman, a South African and a Pole.

Airport officials said the plane, a Douglas DC-3 operated by Air France, circled above the airport for an hour waiting for the fog to lift so it could land.

The plane finally attempted to land but touched its wheels to the ground in a soft plowed field 800 yards short of the runway. The craft was torn apart by the crash, scattering wreckage over the field. Fire broke out but was extinguished by fire-trucks from Le Bourget.

Jaycees Sponsor Annual Campaign

Putnam county's annual campaign to assist the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis will be held from January 15th through January 30th, it was announced today. Rex Haines, Greencastle, has been named chairman of the drive, and he will be assisted by Richard Reeves.

The appointment of Haines and Reeves as chairman and assistant chairman of the drive to raise funds for the relief of infantile paralysis victims came from Basil O'Connor, national president of the foundation through the Greencastle Junior Chamber of Commerce. Charles Weaver, president of the local Jaycees, stated that in selecting the chairman and assistant chairman of the drive he felt sure that this drive, the tenth anniversary of infantile paralysis campaigns in Putnam county, would be the most successful of all.

A visitor in Greencastle recently was William Styling, Indiana state representative of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, who was in touch with Mr. Weaver and James R. Pence, president of the local organization, in assisting the organization of the Putnam county campaign.

At the present time, contacts are being made with organizations and individuals throughout the county to promote the campaign in their respective communities. It is expected that the complete Putnam county organization will be announced in a few days.

The annual infantile paralysis campaign is one of the most worthy of its kind and deserves the support of everyone for the excellent work it is doing. Half of the funds raised in Putnam county remain in the county to carry on the work of giving assistance to infantile paralysis victims here. The other half of the funds are held by the national organization but can be drawn on for local use if the occasion arises that outside funds are needed.

The Coast Guard cutter Aurora reported that no survivors were found at the crash scene.

Ten Killed In Holy City Blast

JERUSALEM, Jan. 7 (INS)—At least 10 persons were reported killed today in a violent explosion at the ancient Jaffa Gate of Jerusalem, followed a few minutes later by a second blast of the old city.

The explosions, which caused considerable damage as well as casualties, came in the wake of a Palestine government "crack down" order against Holy Land terrorists.

It ordered British troops to shoot on the spot anyone—Arab or Jew—found to be carrying arms.

FIRE AT EVANSVILLE

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 7.—Five hundred persons were routed from a basketball game here last night as a $100,000 fire swept through a Central High School building across the street from the gymnasium.

The entire northwest wing of the structure was destroyed and the spectacular blaze threatened to sweep all the 39-year-old structure as fans were gathering for the game across the street.

The blaze was first noticed at 7:05 p. m. Firemen had it under control an hour later. The fire was centered in the home economics department on the third floor. Firemen from five engine houses were called to fight the flames.

CONGRESSMEN HEAR MESSAGE BY PRESIDENT

TRUMAN OUTLINES FIVE MAJOR GOALS IN HIS ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (UT)—President Truman asked Congress today to free 10,000,000 or more low pay individuals from income taxes and to impose new levies on corporations to offset an estimated revenue loss of $5,200,000,000.

Specifically, he recommended a $40 cost-of-living tax credit for each individual taxpayer with an additional $40 credit for each dependent, effective on income received in this calendar year.

Mr. Truman revealed his election year tax relief program in his annual message on the state of union. He delivered it in person before a joint session of the Republican-controlled congress.

Tax rates on larger corporations would have to be jumped from 38 to 50 per cent to raise approximately $3,200,000,000 of additional revenue. Mr. Truman's tax cut would be about the equivalent of an increase of personal exemptions from the present $500 to $700. It was an across-the-board proposal applying to rich and poor alike. But the President observed that it would mostly benefit the low income group.

For example, the income tax of a man with wife and two children would be reduced $160 a year.

Revision of the entire tax structure for the more substantial relief of higher income groups must be delayed, Mr. Truman said, until the danger of inflation has passed.

The President's message was a wide sweeping document in the New Deal tradition of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was aimed at the many millions whom Henry A. Wallace designates as the common man. In large part it repeated recommendations of previous Truman messages which have been consistently ignored by congress—including a hike in minimum wages. This time from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

The President set up five major goals for congress to help him attain or approach in this presidential election year.

1. Secure the essential human rights of all citizens.
2. Protect and develop our human resources.
3. Conserve natural resources.
4. Lift living standards.
5. Achieve world peace based on principles of freedom, justice and equality for all nations.

The President again expressed disapproval of the Taft-Hartley labor control act but said he would enforce it so long as it remained on the books.

In addition to his new request for a higher minimum wage, Mr. Truman appealed again for limited rationing and price-wage controls to fight inflation, universal training for American youth, a long-range housing program, and a National Health Insurance program.

The kicker, saved until last in the long message, was income tax reduction for all and complete exemption for many millions. The 10,000,000 individuals who would be relieved of taxes altogether represent about one fifth of all persons who annually have been making returns under high wartime tax rates. It was the only surprise package in Mr. Truman's message although political realists had been confident he would in some way counter Republican income tax man-

Cubs Host To Howe On Friday

The Tiger Cubs will play their first home game of the new year on Friday evening when Howe of Indianapolis invades the local gymnasium.

Greencastle's net tossers started 1948 on the right side of the ledger by defeating Rushville's Lions, 48 to 43 last Saturday night over at Rushville. Consequently, Tiger Cub stock has gone up since that tilt and fans hope to see Coach Tom Goldsberry's proteges win from the visiting basketballers come Friday.

The Cub squad will be strengthened somewhat at the start of the second semester by the eligibility of Stan Pierce, husky colored boy who left school for Army service two years ago. Pierce has height and experience as he formerly played for G. H. S.

Goldsberry will probably start Manhart, Roberts, Marketto, Grimes, Rowland or Jim Pierce against Howe.

VETERANS' OFFICE ISSUES SUMMARY

Exactly what do local veterans' affairs offices do?

The answer came this week when Putnam County Veterans' Affairs Officer, Robert J. Poelien, recapitulated a year's summary of his office's activities here in Putnam County on behalf of local war veterans.

The following figures tell the story:

Total Interviews, 2585; Hospital Admittances and Referrals, 128; Burial Allowances obtained, 10; Headstones applied for, 6; Terminal Leave claims, 306; Tax exemptions filed, 5; Claims filed, 93; Academic education referrals, 330; On-The-Job Training, Applications and referrals, 360; Apprenticeship, applications and referrals, 244; Insurance (converting and reinstating), 350; Loan referrals, 195; U.S.E.S. Referrals, 71; Indiana Employment Security referrals, 22; Selective Service referrals, 11; Other Federal agencies referrals, 13; Veterans Organizations referrals, 49; Red Cross referrals, 17; Governmental Agencies; referrals: County, 15; City, 15; State, 19; Miscellaneous 320; numerous other referrals such as pertaining to employment, re-employment, change of address, housing, affidavits, etc.

At present time Putnam County has 46 facilities giving Veterans On-The-Job training and apprenticeship training and 30 veterans are enrolled in On-The-Job training which is now available on farms. The local office has assisted the employers in making up problems to follow in training the apprentice or trainee and have helped the veterans to secure jobs at these various facilities. There are approximately 65 taking this type of training. These programs set up by our training facilities offer our home town veterans great opportunities in becoming skilled journeymen in the vocation they care to choose.

At the same time, Mr. Poelien released a statement from the State Department of Veterans Affairs to the effect that more than 35,000 Hoosier war veterans visit the many local veterans' affairs centers in Indiana every month. Reviewing the vital role played by these centers, it cited five broad categories of service, as follows: housing, earning a living, military benefits, educational information, and personal affairs. The State agency concluded with the note that at least 75 % of these requests for Veterans' assistance—being local in origin and solu-

DePauw will meet the Ball State Cardinals Saturday, Jan. 10, in the first home game of 1948 for the Tigers.

The Tigers won two games from Ball State last season and hope to extend the string to bolster their current standing in the state conference. DePauw has won three conference matches and lost one, winning from Hanover, Canterbury and Wabash and losing to Franklin in an overtime contest.

MOST IMPORTANT
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 7 (INS)—Legislation in the fields of public expenditures, taxation and labor relations is among the most important in the present Congressional session, in the opinion of Clarence A. Jackson, executive vice president of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce. Jackson and three other Indiana State Chamber staff members are attending committee meetings of the National Association of State Chambers of Commerce this week in Washington, D. C., where plans for action during the current season of expenditures, and taxes, and Congress are being made. Howard Friend, Hoosier chamber research director; Maurice Groendyke, special assistant, assigned to the national association to a public relations program designed to promote reduction in federal government

"YOU'LL FIND OUT," COACH
MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Harry Stuhldreher, University of Wisconsin football coach, had a reply at a university rally at which faculty members were asked to give their names and positions.

"As of today, I'm athletic director and football coach. After tomorrow's game, I don't know," Stuhldreher said.

"Never mind," replied M. C. Frank Holt, public services director, "plenty of people will tell you."

VEGETABLE NOTES

The filling root vegetables can be used to good advantage in family meals this fall and winter while cereal foods and meats are critical, food economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest. The modern emphasis on the "lighter" vegetables—leafy greens and tomatoes, for example, has caused many housewives to neglect the sturdy roots that once were regulars in cold weather meals.

All the root vegetables offer good food energy along with varying amounts of minerals and vitamins plus bulk which helps give that "satisfied feeling." Moreover, they are generally inexpensive buys and offer variety both in flavor and color.

Of all the familiar root vegetables, sweetpotatoes rank first in energy value and contribute an important amount of vitamin A, and some vitamin C into the bargain. Potatoes have about two-thirds as much energy value as "sweets" plus some vitamin

C. value. Both kinds of potatoes can be used in many ways to replace flour and other grain foods.

Less appreciated is the value of some other old-fashioned root vegetables. Salsify or "vegetable oyster" and parsnips rank along with potatoes in energy value. Onions are next in order, though most people think of them only as flavoring vegetables. Next in order of energy value are carrots and beets, rutabagas, and finally turnips.

All these vegetables except beets are very useful in making a little meat go a long way in stews, casseroles, meat pies, scallops and creamed dishes. Beets make a colorful, flavorful and filling accompaniment to the main dish.

To use vegetables successfully in meat combinations, they should be added late in the cooking after the meat has cooked almost tender. In pot roast, for example, no vegetables except onions should be placed around the meat until it is almost done; nearly tender. Otherwise, the meat stew, not until the meat is vegetables will be overcooked and lose flavor, color and appetizing texture. Overcooking often creates prejudice against root vegetables.

BE SURE INSURANCE

COVERS PRICE RISE

"Check your farm insurance to see that it compensates for present price levels," advises F. H. Demaree, agricultural economist at Purdue University.

Most farm insurance is written for a period of years and is therefore easily forgotten until the expiration date of the policy when renewal becomes necessary. And yet, according to the Federal Home Loan Bank Administration, a standard six-room house costing $5000 to build in 1940 would now cost about $9000, a rise of approximately 80 percent.

The cost of building material for farm uses other than houses has practically doubled since 1940. Grain prices in September of this year were 333 percent of the pre-war 1935-39 average and livestock has risen 275 percent in price over the same pre-war period, according to the economist. The cost of new farm machinery is about 140 percent of pre-war.

A recent survey of insurance carried on a number of west central Indiana farms disclosed that 46 percent of the farms had no insurance on the contents of their building, that is machinery, hay, grain, feed and livestock. A loss of $6,000 worth of grain has just been incurred on one farm where no insurance was carried on the contents of buildings.

Of those surveyed, 27 percent had not changed the insured amounts since their policies had been written in 1942 or before. A total of 73 percent had changed their policy by indorsement or by writing a new policy. Changes included increases of 75 percent on houses, 100 percent on barns, outbuildings 60 percent, and contents of buildings 65 percent, according to Demaree.

Most insurance companies will accept insurance on farm property up to two-thirds, in some cases three-fourths, of the fair appraised value of the property. From the survey taken, it appears that about three-fourths of the farmers who carried insurance on buildings had increased their insurance in line with present replacement costs on houses and barns. However, only a little more than one-half of the farmers had insurance on livestock, machinery, grain, hay and feed, and on the average, the increase in the insured amounts had not kept pace with replacement costs.

FARMER GETS ACTION

Holland, Mich. (UP)—Henry A. VanDyke, Holland township farmer, decided to stop hunters from disregarding his "no trespassing" signs, parking their cars on his lawn and roving his fields. He hired a deputy sheriff to stand guard and took 23 hunters into court. Each violator paid a $5 fine. The normal number of such cases for the entire state is less than 25 annually.

AT MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., cargo is loaded aboard the U. S. S. Montague, which along with the U. S. S. Bexar will carry 1,000 Marines to the Mediterranean sea for duty with the U. S. fleet. After Feb. 1 the fleet will be in command of Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman (inset), who leaves the post of deputy chief of Naval operations to succeed Vice Admiral B. H. Bieri. (International)

RAPHODY RIVERS

James Fallon, who served "sentence" of 10 years in or of Pittsfield, sent condolences rather than congratulations Mayor-elect Robert T. Capen. "It would be hypocritical my part to tender you congratulations," he said in a letter. "Wherefore I am tendering condolences. However, your youth and enthusiasm may shake off handicaps that were placed on me. While serving the term I have learned something may be beneficial. If so, at your disposal."
